

Online-Excel course now available for all employees and students at BI!

01.02.2019 After receiving feedback that today's and future students must improve their knowledge in Excel, BI is investing heavily in Excel training. The course is now open.

Innholdsansvarlig Thomas Griffiths

Janicke Rasmussen, Dean M.Sc., BI and Marcus Andersson, Learnesy AB

The competition in the job market is tough and it is important to stand out among the massive amount of applications. BI has therefore sought a solution that is modern, flexible for the students, and that meets BI's quality requirements for education.

After an extensive evaluation process with testers from several different courses and discussions with evaluation groups, BI has chosen the e-learning company Learnesy AB to give their students the sought-after education.

Learnesy already delivers e-learning to universities and colleges that are "Triple crown accredited". The collaboration will allow all students at BI to have access to the course. The pedagogy is centered around short video lessons, with associated exercises and final tests. Upon completion of the course, a diploma is obtained which certifies competence